

MRS. HOADLEY PAYS UP; HUSBAND TOO

Pliny Fisk Uncerth Six $1,000 Bills Between Mid-night and 3 A. M.

CHECK FOR REMAINDER

Timely Production of Currency Alone Saved Couple From Jail.

By the payment of six $1,000 bills and a check for $7,000 in the early hours of yesterday morning, the deficiency judgments and contempt proceedings against Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Hoadley were satisfied.

Lawyers for both sides, as well as the small army of deputy sheriffs who have been trying for six weeks to locate the Hoadleys long enough to serve warrants on them, admitted yesterday that this latest chapter in the career of the Hoadleys, who were reported to be worth $15,000,000 and were prominent in Wall Street, was closed. There still remains some $3,500 or so to be paid by Mrs. Hoadley, but for the time being judgment holders say, but this will be accounted for later.

The story of the arrest Tuesday night at the Netherland Hotel was told in yesterday's Sun. Warrants of commitment to Ludlow street jail and orders of arrest were issued many weeks ago against the Hoadleys for a deficiency judgment against Mrs. Hoadley for a mortgage on her residence, 18 East Eighty-second street, on which all but $3,000 had been collected by foreclosure or other means, coupled with another judgment against the husband arising out of the receivership of the International Power Company, of which he was president. To this was added a judgment in contempt resulting from Mrs. Hoadley's failure to obey an order to appear before Justice Ouy in connection with her suit.

Evening at Opera Spoiled.

All efforts to serve the papers were fruitless, for the Hoadleys could not be found at their home in the country, nor at the Netherland Hotel, where they were supposed to be. But Monday night the Nassau Mortgage Company, assignee of the claim against Mrs. Hoadley, learned that the couple were at the Netherland Hotel. The company's lawyers, Root, Clark, Buckner & Howard, sent Henry Mayer of their firm to the hotel with Deputy Sheriff Hoadley, who knew the Hoadleys from previous cases in court, kept watch in the lobby.

About 7:45 o'clock Mrs. Hoadley came down the elevator, and was arrested by the deputy. With her was Mr. Hoadley, her husband's private secretary. Pliny Fisk, a clerk from Mayer, reached them as Mrs. Hoadley was stepping into a taxi.

"I have an order for your arrest," he told her quietly.

Mrs. Hoadley protested vainly, declaring that a mistake had been made and "the lady was not Mrs. Hoadley at all," but the latter, taking it in good grace, stipulated that she should be allowed to go to her home to get her things. To this Pliny Fisk agreed only too gladly. For as soon as the deputy got inside the taxi, the husband, who was attired only in bathrobe and slippers, and served a duplicate order of arrest on him.

Wanted to Save Wife.

For seven hours after that the Hoadley apartment was the scene of a lively battle between the former promoter and the men who had trapped him. His concern was not for himself, but for his wife. He expressed himself as perfectly willing to go with Pliny Fisk if his wife were allowed to remain at home. But this plea was refused. The commitment of Mrs. Hoadley was the stranglehold that the judgment holders had on the couple and by which they eventually effected a settlement in cash.

Mr. Hoadley got busy with the telephone. He called first Bainbridge Colby to advise him. Next he summoned George Gray, the Delaware jurist; William J. Flynn, chief of the United States secret service; and Pliny Fisk, the banker, with one or two others. Mayer hastily sent for Grenville Clark, member of his law firm. Pliny Fisk, not to be outdone, brought George W. O'Leary, counsel for Sheriff Smith's office.

While all this was going on Mrs. Hoadley gracefully played her part as hostess by offering supper to be served in the apartment for the entire retinue of both sides. A procession of waiters bearing trays loaded with satiables and drinkables added to the clamor and confusion that spread through the halls.

Justice Cochran Takes a Hand.

Bainbridge Colby, spurning the food-stuffs, took up the cudgels immediately on his arrival to have the arrest called off. He asserted the warrant and order were "clearly defective." Mr. Clark held they were not. They located Justice Cochran at the Metropolitan Club, where he had been attending a banquet, and the two rushed over there. Justice Cochran because of the fact that he is now sitting in Social Term, Part II, which has jurisdiction in ex parte matters of this nature, was asked to vacate the order. He refused, but suggested that if Mrs. Hoadley could furnish $5,000 bail he was willing to let her out on that until the morning, when the plea for a vacation could be argued.

So it went until 1 A. M., with Pliny Fisk keeping vigilant watch on his hosts. Mr. Colby dashed back and forth between the hotel and the Metropolitan Club and waiters bringing more eatables and drinkables to the Hoadley suite to sustain the embattled ones.

Meanwhile Mr. Hoadley had been the busiest one of the congregation. Just as the last sandwich gave out he appeared with six crinkly Treasury notes for $1,000 each. These he gave to Mr. Clark, who agreed to accept them as part payment of the judgment against Mrs. Hoadley. Mr. Fisk then drew a check, it was said, for the amount of the judgment against Mr. Hoadley. The Sheriff's fees were paid at the same time and the whole case was automatically ended at 3 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mr. Hoadley could not be found again yesterday and Mrs. Hoadley refused to make any statement.

GREEK KING AT FUNERAL.

Pays Tribute to Colonel Killed in United States.

ATHENS (Via London), Nov. 15.—King Constantine and the Greek royal family attended the state funeral of Col. Reginald, an aide-de-camp of the King, who was killed in action.

The Colonel was killed in the United States by coming in contact with an electric wire. His body was brought from New York to Greece on the steamship Patria.

Judge's Motor Kills Man.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 15.—John H. Crowley, a technical expert, was killed by a motor car driven by Judge Edward G. H. Hoadley today when on a tour to Florida. It occurred just one week after his own son had been killed by an automobile in Lansing. Judge Crowley and his party were held for a coroner's inquest to-morrow.

HOTEL MEN POSTPONE NEW YEAR FESTIVITIES

Celebration Will Take Place on Monday Night Instead of Sunday.

Those who were lamenting that New Year's eve this year would have to be a dry occasion because that auspicious day happened to fall on a Sunday may cheer up. The Hotel Association, yesterday at an executive meeting decided to come to the rescue of the celebrating public and decreed that the official celebration of the advent of the new year will be held Monday night, January 1.

At the meeting George C. Boldt, proprietor of the Waldorf, Fred A. Reed of the Park Avenue, Lucius P. Bloomer, managing director of the McAlpin and Claridge, John McE. Bowman of the Biltmore, and Claude R. Knott of the Somerset took the matter up in a serious way and agreed that the public should not be deprived of having its little celebration. Any attempt to have the merry making take place on Sunday, December 31, was admittedly out of the question because of the excise law. So Monday night was settled upon.

"We have no desire to come into conflict with the law," said George C. Boldt in discussing the action of the association. "The law seems positive in reference to what is permissible on Sunday nights and what is not. We are in the habit of seeing the new year in at the big hotels and restaurants may consider the lack of facilities to celebrate New Year's Eve as a hardship. We are going to observe the Sunday law. Our hope is that the public will appreciate the situation and endeavor to make Monday night take the place of Sunday night."

It was said that all of the big cabaret restaurants will follow the lead of the hotel men and make arrangements for the celebration on Monday night.

OFFERS BAIL AFTER ARRESTING WIFE

Husband Greets Mate With Detectives as She Steps From Ship.

Private detectives in the disguise of lounge-holders made an effort yesterday on the French liner pier, when the steamship Chicago, from Bordeaux, made fast to detain Mrs. Antonette Ragio. Her husband, who urged on the stevedores, is an American citizen and lives in New York.

One of the detectives, who seized Mrs. Ragio's bag, was hustled off the pier by Eddie Mallen of the steamship squad. Mrs. Ragio was taken to Jefferson Market Court by a real policeman. Her husband and wife had lawyers. He charged her with withholding and secreting property belonging to him. He said he had given her a check for $10,000, which she had cashed at Genoa and sent a house and lot he owned there, and that she suspected she was not going to give him the money, about $11,000, which he had given her for the property.

Mrs. Ragio said she was French born, that she had met her husband in New Orleans, and that they had come north and were married. She said her husband had given a deed of gift to her last August and that she had a right to the money from the sale. She said a Frenchman in Bordeaux was keeping the money for her.

While she testified, her husband, who apparently had repented going to law, went back to his room. He was offered $1,500 bail for a hearing to-morrow that he would like to offer bail, and he was much distressed, weeping more. When told that his property in New York was no good as bail in New York, he got the bail later. It looked much like the dove of peace would be hovering over the couple and by which they eventually effected a settlement in cash.

PAID $75 A WEEK FOR HER DOGS

Mrs. Davenport Had 40 Animals at Rockefeller Kennels.

BROOKLYN, Conn., Nov. 15.—Mrs. Sarah Davenport, told Frank E. Gardiner, who was taking care of her affairs, that she would rather give her money to the dogs than to her heirs, he testified today in court.

She had forty dogs on her country place at Wilton, and when Gardiner arranged to borrow $12,000 for her he told her she would have to get rid of the pets as they were costing much. He says she sent them off the place and he supposed they were disposed of. But he found she was paying $75 a week board for them at John D. Rockefeller's kennels in Tarrytown.

The matter came up in court today when Mrs. Davenport sued the Citizens National Bank of New York for accounting of the money Mr. Gardiner says he checked out to pay her bills.

LOST HUNTER THOUGHT SLAIN

Bloodhounds on Trail Stop at Stream—Body Hidden, Is Believed.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Caelton Barker, railroad division superintendent, who disappeared while hunting near Piseco, Hamilton county, last Friday, was found by his friends today. He was killed by a bear, it was believed. He was left by his companions on a run, and while they circled a mountain, bloodhounds to-day followed the scent to a point on Fall stream, where it was evident Barker spent some time. They would go no further. Stories came down from the Lake Piseco country to-night that a bear had killed a man. The finding of the body, but the general impression is that the remains have been put where they will not be discovered until the snows go next spring.

HATFIELD CALLS LEGISLATURE.

West Virginia's Governor Proclaims Special Session.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 15.—Gov. Hatfield issued to-night a proclamation calling for the West Virginia Legislature to convene in extraordinary session here on November 20.

The object of the special session is to amend certain laws so as to affect the tenure of elective and appointive officers in order to give the Governor and the Legislature the right to remove officers of the Governor and the Legislature.

Woman Sees Stock Broker.

James W. Ball, head of the stock brokerage firm of James W. Ball & Co., 29 Broad street, was served yesterday with the summons in a suit begun by Mary Frances Gibson. The complaint has not yet been filed and the nature of the action was not divulged yesterday. As Jeremiah A. O'Leary, counsel for the plaintiff, could not be reached at his home.

Crusier Columbia to New London.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—The cruiser Columbia, which had been undergoing repairs at the Philadelphia navy yard, left today for New London, Conn., to be put in commission on the north Atlantic coast. The Columbia is the flagship of Rear Admiral Grant, commander of the submarine fleet.

OPINION SUNG BY ONE JUDGE YOUNG

In Rippling Rhyme He Takes His Time and Separates a Couple.

CLASH YIELDS HER CASH

Warm Youth and Old Age, Says He, Never Did Agree.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Justice J. Addison Young of the Supreme Court put one over on the bench and bar of Westchester to-day so neatly that the elect who were in on the secret are still chuckling.

Ever since Justice Arthur S. Tompkins of Nyack filed his poetical demurrer to a semiprivate's suit he has worn the belt as the champion rhymester of the entire judiciary.

But Justice Young bided his time. Came before him Mrs. Alice Pitcher, a woman of 60, who was suing for separation from Edgar G. Young, a wealthy Dutchess county farmer, Mrs. Young, in 1912, when she was 20, married the farmer, who is just forty years her senior. They lived together only a few weeks, then came court action and a judicial order that they live apart for a year, when, unless both were willing to be reconciled, a formal decree should be entered.

This was Justice Young's opportunity. Handing down his decision to-day he embodied the following stanzas in it:

"Crabbed Age and Youth
Youth is full of pleasure,
Age is full of care,
Youth is like summer morn,
Age like winter weather;
Youth is like summer morn,
Age like winter, bare;
Youth is full of sport,
Age's breath is short;
Youth is nimble, Age is lame,
Youth is hot and cold,
Age is weak and cold;
Youth is like a flash of light,
Age is like a dim star."
"I am satisfied," he added, "that the marriage between the parties was the result of undue influence of others. Nature rarely makes mistakes of this kind."

Mr. Vosburgh said on the witness stand: "All my troubles started when my mother-in-law drove to my house with her old beat-up horse and her daughter." A letter he wrote to his mother-in-law asserting that it was through her wiles and persuasions that he married the daughter also was introduced. The judge held to be repudiation of his wife. Judgment therefore was entered in favor of the plaintiff and her alimony will be fixed when the decree is presented.

Lawyers and court attendants were impressed deeply by the poetry in the decision. The consensus of opinion was that Justice Young had done pretty well, considering that he was not a poet by trade. He was showered with compliments, which he received with becoming modesty but twinkling eyes.

Then came a brief and young barrister with little else to do began poking through Bartlett, and now the Justice's modesty is appreciated at its true value. For the lines were held to be a parody, by the name of Bill Shakespeare, who turned out sonnets and such little things when he wasn't too busy managing a farm. Some of them are considered good reading.

STATE FACING LOSS OF MILK INDUSTRY

Senator Wicks of Investigating Committee Finds Conditions Pitiable.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Nov. 15.—The State is threatened with the loss of its greatest industry, dairying, just as it is losing the sheep industry, said Senator Charles W. Wicks, head of the legislative investigating committee now finishing its work of inquiry into the cost of milk production and distribution, at a hearing in this city to-day.

"Conditions are pitiable," he said. "We have visited forty counties seeking information for the next Legislature. Our report will show grave danger of the disappearance of the industry."

The reason for this threatened loss, the Senator said, is the unwillingness of the farmers to continue producing milk for the market at a financial loss to themselves.

The recent milk strike threw light on the state of affairs, but it is not alone did not strike very deep into the evil conditions. Only a temporary adjustment has been effected, the Senator said; only the Legislature can make a permanent reform.

"The Legislature cannot fix prices, but can insist upon mediation. It is the plain duty of the State to prevent threatened economic loss to the entire commonwealth," he declared.

Senator Wicks intimated that the situation would be taken up by the Legislature this winter. More than a dozen milk producers appeared before the committee to-day to submit figures on cost of production.

50,000 IN FOOD PARADE.

Marchers to Demand Relief From Mayor Mitchell.

Women who plan for a convention to discuss methods for reducing the cost of living in New York city already have been announced added to their arrangements yesterday the programme for a parade of 50,000 marchers who will proceed to the City Hall and demand that Mayor Mitchell and the city government take steps for relief.

All brought a flag to be represented. It was announced yesterday by Ida Garden and Meyer Abramson.

HARKNESS CHOSEN PRESIDENT.

Elected Head of American Speedways Association.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Managers of practically every important automobile speedway in the country met in Chicago today and organized the American Speedways Association. The plan is to have automobile racing teams campaign on the circuit each season and to promote public interest in automobile racing throughout the country. The officers elected were:

President, Harry S. Harkness of New York, vice-president, James A. Allison of Indianapolis, secretary, T. E. Meyer of Indianapolis, board of governors, Clara A. two mile speedways, James A. Allison of Indianapolis, Harry S. Harkness of New York, H. S. Lehmann of Cincinnati and H. E. Leary of Chicago, Charles B. Johnson of Indianapolis, C. W. Johnson of Indianapolis, H. J. Perkins of Providence, R. I. and Samuel Orloff of Des Moines, executive committee, T. E. Meyer of Indianapolis, H. S. Harkness of Chicago and Harry S. Harkness of New York.

EMILY ROBBHOUSE ARRESTED.

British Woman Accused of Defending German Rule in Belgium.

BRUSSELS (by wireless), Nov. 15.—The arrest by the British authorities of Miss Emily Robbhouse, an English writer, is reported in a despatch from The Hague to the Overseas News Agency.

Miss Robbhouse was said by the news agency to have made a trip to Belgium, subsequently writing articles to the effect that there was less devastation in Belgium than in South Africa during the Boer war, and that in trips through many Belgian towns she had found that the people were on the best of terms with the German soldiers.

FOOD INQUIRY IN OHIO.

Legislature May Be Called to Take Action on Conditions.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 15.—A special session of the Ohio Legislature may be called at once by Gov. Willis to investigate the high cost of living. Gov. Willis in a petition this week to the Governor and President Wilson for an investigation of the high cost of living charged "unfair and illegal speculation in foodstuffs and other necessary commodities" as being the cause of conditions.

It was said the coal shortage situation in Ohio and the subsequent high price charged for coal also may be included in the investigation if one is started.

WHITMAN URGED TO PROBE FOOD COST

George W. Perkins Suggests Establishment of State Market Departments.

SAYS WILSON IS WRONG

Tells the Governor Farmers Are Not to Blame for Conditions.

George W. Perkins pointed out yesterday in a letter to Governor Whitman that President Wilson, in asking the farmers to raise more food products, was sidestepping the issue and not putting the blame for the high cost of living where it really belongs. He urged the Governor to arrange for a method by which the study of market conditions could be facilitated and channels arranged for better distribution.

Mr. Perkins charged that the Wilson Administration had been significantly lax in this direction.

"I see by the morning papers," wrote Mr. Perkins, "that President Wilson puts the high cost of living up to a young farmer and rather blames them for not producing larger crops, saying that by producing larger crops they will be able to bring down the cost of living to the level of the cost of living in 1914. Mr. Wilson's way of meeting the high cost of living is quite in keeping with the way he meets every issue—by sidestepping it or shifting the responsibility to some one else."

"The cost of living has been steadily increasing for a number of years. Of course, to increase our output and the quality of it is very desirable, and we know of no class of citizens who have tried harder to do this than the farmers when the price of their products has fallen. But the high cost of living is not entirely due to the fact that we have failed to raise enough food."

Urges Market Departments.

"The fundamental trouble is that we have not at Washington or Albany or New York city or anywhere else the right kind of market departments—those which are to study the question of food supply, food distribution, and food consumption in an intelligent, businesslike manner and bring about such reforms in the methods of food distribution as will bring about beneficial results to both the producer and consumer."

"Until such market departments are established the high cost of living is going to be an everburning question. The cost of table living is reaching a point where it is almost unbearable. This is particularly true in the case of the people who work on salaries—such as teachers, professors and clerks in stores, banks, corporations, etc., for the income of these people has increased very little if at all, while their outgo for the actual necessities of life has increased very much."

40 Per Cent for Food.

"We have in this State two Public Service commissions to look after the public interests in the matter of transportation, and yet statistics show that only about 10 per cent of the average income goes for transportation, and I know something like 40 per cent of his income goes for food. Until we change all this, until we secure from the Federal Government the States and the city market departments that are departments in a real potential sense, we will never be able, no matter what the size of our crops or how hard the farmers work, to substantially change the present extremely unsatisfactory condition and give to the people the quantity and quality of food they should have at prices that are proper."

"As the chairman of Mayor Mitchell's food supply committee, I have given this matter a great deal of study and sincerely believe that the State and the city market departments that are departments in a real potential sense, we will never be able, no matter what the size of our crops or how hard the farmers work, to substantially change the present extremely unsatisfactory condition and give to the people the quantity and quality of food they should have at prices that are proper."

TAMMANY ACTORS CHERRY HILL STARS

Sheriff Al Smith to Lead Competent Cast in "The Shaughraun."

MAGISTRATE NOLAN, TOO

Senator Walker, Assemblyman Hamill and Henry McCadden Also Will Appear.

Now that the election is over and no chance remains to wreck the Democratic ticket Sheriff Al Smith is going to be an actor for three nights and no matinee. But Actor Smith does not intend to take any chances; he is going to appear before an audience that will be made up entirely of his staunch friends and admirers living under the shadows of the Manhattan end of Brooklyn Bridge, said friends and admirers including every woman, woman and child in the bridge shadows who is old enough to throw a mushy tomato or a sad egg at any Irish comedian that sports green whiskers.

There will be no green whiskers, however, in the usual A. Smith, who is the old Fourth Ward to act up in an Irish play. Art that acorns green eyebrows saturates the place, inasmuch as the astute kidnapers of Cherry Hill's rattle have selected Don Houlihan, "The Shaughraun," as a starring vehicle for Matinee Idol Smith.

James Street the Scene.

The curtain is to go up in St. James Hall, in James street, near New Bowery, next Tuesday night. Actor Smith and Sheriff Al Smith will appear in "The Shaughraun," a play by James J. (Jefferson) Nolan, Senator James J. (Jefferson) Walker, Undertaker Henry (Irving) McCadden and Assemblyman Henry (Irving) Hamill, who are to have made their first appearance on Monday night, but owing to the fearful pleadings of Playwright Bayard Veiller and Miss Eva Condon, who is to open in Mr. Veiller's "The Thirteenth Chair" at the Forty-eighth Street Theatre Monday night, Al Smith and his brother Theatricals generally will not be so open against the Veiller effort.

A Run of Three Nights.

The performance of "The Shaughraun" with the all-Tammany cast will run for three nights—Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday—and the proceeds will go into the treasury of St. James school, the church school, conducted by the parishioners of the Rev. James R. Curry, St. James' Church in James street.

There is a savage sharpening of lead pencils and an oiling of typewriters these days around the studies of Dramatic Critics Brander Matthews, William Winter, Clayton Hamilton, Wally Eaton and the rest of the boys in preparation for the event, and a general feeling in the air that after the Wednesday morning show the church school, conducted by the parishioners of the Rev. James R. Curry, St. James' Church in James street.

GIRL MOTORIST HITS BOY.

Father of Lad Insists on Young Woman's Arrest.

An automobile driven by Miss Emily Dowse, 20 years old, of Englewood, N. J., skidded at Sixty-first street and Amsterdam avenue last night and bowled over a young boy, Bernard, 8 years old, of 250 West Sixty-first street. The boy's left wrist was broken and his head was bruised.

William J. Knudsen, Sr., saw the accident and Miss Dowse driving with him for several minutes before she got permission to take his son to Roosevelt Hospital in her car. Policeman Campbell sent along.

Bernardo insisted that the young woman should be arrested, and after delivering the injured boy to the hospital, Miss Dowse drove to her father's home, 140 West Sixty-first street, and policeman to the Sixty-first street station. There Lieut. Dunn entertained Bernardo's complaint of felonious assault and the young woman was placed in a cell. Miss Dowse said the accident was unavoidable.

On Sunday morning a taxi cab ran down two persons on the same corner, work, to both of whom Roosevelt Hospital with broken bones.

"SPY'S" HEARING POSTPONED.

Government Holds Graves Until Prince Appears.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The preliminary hearing in the case of Karl Armand Graves, charged with attempting to extort $3,000 for alleged stolen letters addressed to Countess von Bernstorff, was postponed today by United States Commissioner T. J. Connelley because the Government needs the testimony of Prince von Hatzfeldt, Counselor of the German Embassy, and permission must first be obtained by the embassy from the German Foreign Office.

Prince von Hatzfeldt, in an interview said Graves never had seen in the secret service of the German Government, that Graves was not his real name and that light would be thrown on the real identity when the hearing took place. It is expected that the letters addressed by a woman friend to Countess von Bernstorff, which Graves tried to dispose of, will be read at the hearing.

SMUGGLERS SUPPLY N. Y. DRUG USERS

Heroin Addicts Becoming So Numerous Hospitals Can't Handle Them.

SEEKING STANDARD CURE

Most of the Stuff Is Shipped to United States From Canada.

Heroin addicts are becoming so numerous in New York that city hospitals and other institutions must enlarge their facilities greatly if they are to cope with the hundreds of victims the courts turn over to them. Ninety per cent. of all drug victims are enslaved to heroin. While drug stores sales have been cut 75 per cent., the evil is growing apace because smugglers keep sidewalk dealers supplied.

These were striking points brought out yesterday at the first meeting of a committee of judges, physicians and others organized to fight the illicit traffic. A sub-committee on care and treatment also met in Special Sessions chambers in the Criminal Courts building.

"The time is not far off when there will be so many cases to be disposed of in Special Sessions that the city institutions now equipped will be unable to cope with the situation," said Justice Edwin L. Garvin of Special Sessions, chairman of the sub-committee. He approved the suggestion of Burdette G. Lewis, Commissioner of Correction, that hospital ward space be increased, and urged that it be done without delay.

Ernest K. Coulter, counsel for Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, wants the Rockefeller Institute to work out a standard treatment for the cure of victims to be adopted generally in place of the individual methods developed by each physician.

Washington Should Interest Itself in Finding a Substitute for Opium in the Opinion of Dr. Charles F. Stokes, Medical Director of the Board of Inebriates.

He added that he would put the matter before the proper Federal authorities together with a request for regulation of manufacture of the stuff.

The supply of New York's underworld comes secretly across the border from Canada, and also is smuggled in by petty officers of foreign steamships. Herman A. Metz believes. He was one of three representatives of the white sale drug interests who attended the meeting of the Board of Inebriates, and to Canadian dealers and smugglers. Frederick R. Greer, an Inspector of Canadian customs, corroborated the statement that Canada is the source of the drug and much greater than the Dominion's normal needs.

Mr. Metz thought it would be possible to estimate the amount every physician in the United States would need in his practice under normal conditions, and to make a fair estimate of the amount needed by New York manufacturers and report at another meeting called for December 1st.

Dr. Thompson Leaves Cornell.

Dr. William Thompson, professor of medicine since the foundation of the institution in 1898, has resigned the chair in Cornell University Medical College. The committee will confer with the Attorney General, who has been professor of clinical medicine since 1900 and in charge of medical instruction at New York Hospital, and will report to the Board of Trustees. Dr. Thompson has been made professor of medicine emeritus. He will devote his time henceforth to his private practice.

A MOTOR CAR that is MORE than a mere mechanical conveyance may now be seen at the handsome display rooms of Morton W. Smith Company, Inc., 228 W. 57th St.

If you take delight in knowing that your car expresses your own personality and individuality and possesses exceptional mechanical excellence, then you will be interested in THIS NEW MOTOR CAR.

This is the first medium priced car to be built with all the luxurious appointments—all the character and individuality of the highest priced American and Foreign cars. No luxurious detail or appointment has been overlooked. For example, you are offered practically AN UNLIMITED CHOICE OF COLOR SCHEMES.

The thousands of New Yorkers acquainted with Morton W. Smith will agree that any motor car selected by him must possess a rare degree of excellence and individuality.

An inspection will prove a delight to every motor car enthusiast.
